Company FAQ

What does OnlineLabels.com sell?

We offer the largest selection of ready-to-ship blank labels for laser and inkjet printers in the world, with over 1,100 label configurations in stock. Additionally, we can custom manufacture any label sheet configuration to meet just about every specification.

Who manufactures the labels?

We are the manufacturer of all our labels, which enables us to pass along some great benefits to our customers—factory direct pricing, the most knowledgeable customer service representatives, same day shipping, no minimum orders and much more.

Does Online Labels design and develop pre-printed labels?

At this time we do not design or sell pre-printed labels. We prefer to empower our customers to design and print labels themselves using almost any inkjet or laser printer. To accomplish this, we provide free templates in all of our label configurations that can easily be downloaded right to their computer. This saves valuable time, and of course, costly design/printing charges.

Does Online Labels provide any tools for creating labels?

Yes. Our Maestro Label Designer software is available right on our site, with nothing to download. Brought to you exclusively by OnlineLabels.com, Maestro Label Designer gives you the ability to choose a template, create, save, and print your designs easier than ever. In addition to Maestro, OnlineLabels.com offers the largest selection of pre-configured label templates available in Microsoft Word, Adobe PDF, and Sure Thing Office Labeler. These label templates are provided free of charge to customers of OnlineLabels.com

How long has Online Labels been in business?

OnlineLabels.com was launched in 1998 to create an alternative option to buying expensive blank labels found only in office supply stores. Since then, we've consistently offered the highest quality blank labels for 40 - 90% off of the retail price.

Who are Online Labels' primary customers?

Online Labels, Inc. has sold over 5 billion labels to customers all over the world for both personal and professional labeling needs in many types of applications. A sample of the Company's customer base includes a number of different industries, ranging from educational institutions, community associations, small businesses, large corporations, laboratories, shipping companies, start-ups, wineries, non-profits and government agencies.
